DIRECTOR OF MAJOR GIFTS
PITTSBURGH SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
<http://pittsburghsymphony.org>

The Aspen Leadership Group is proud to partner with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra in the search for a Director of Major Gifts.

The Director of Major Gifts will play a key leadership role on the Orchestra's Development team. Over the next five years, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra (PSO) will be dramatically growing its fundraising efforts, led by individual giving. The Director of Major Gifts will be a highly motivated individual with a strong development background that includes demonstrated experience in securing major gifts and a track record of successful management. This position will manage a significant portfolio of current donors and prospective donors who have the capacity to make leadership annual-fund and major gifts to the PSO and will lead the PSO's major and planned giving team.

The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, known for its artistic excellence for more than 120 years, is credited with a rich history of the world's finest conductors and musicians and a strong commitment to the Pittsburgh region and its citizens. Past music directors have included Fritz Reiner (1938-1948), William Steinberg (1952-1976), André Previn (1976-1984), Lorin Maazel (1984-1996), and Mariss Jansons (1995-2004). This tradition of outstanding international music directors was furthered in fall 2008, when Austrian conductor Manfred Honeck became music director of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

The Orchestra has been at the forefront of championing new American works, and gave the first performance of Leonard Bernstein's Symphony No. 1 "Jeremiah" in 1944 and John Adams' Short Ride in a Fast Machine in 1986. The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra has a long and illustrious history in the areas of recordings and radio concerts. Its "Pittsburgh Live!" series with Reference Recordings has resulted in back-to-back Grammy Award nominations in 2015 and 2016. As early as 1936, the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra broadcast on the airwaves coast-to-coast, and in the late 1970s it made the ground breaking PBS series "Previn and the Pittsburgh."

The Orchestra has received increased national attention since 1982 through network radio broadcasts on Public Radio International, produced by Classical WQED-FM 89.3, made possible by the musicians of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. With a long and distinguished history of touring both domestically and overseas since 1900—including international tours to Europe, the Far East and South America—the Pittsburgh Symphony continues to be critically acclaimed as one of the world's greatest orchestras.

REPORTING RELATIONSHIPS

The Director of Major Gifts will report to the Senior Vice President & Chief Development Officer.

PRINCIPAL OPPORTUNITIES

The next five years will be a defining time for the future of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. Regarded as one of the world's best orchestras, the PSO anchors Pittsburgh's cultural district. The Orchestra performs nearly 130 concerts per year in its home Heinz Hall for the Performing Arts as well as more than 30 concerts in the community, in parks and internationally as the PSO tours frequently. The Orchestra is also deeply committed to enriching the community through a variety of education and community engagement programs which are largely offered free-of-charge. But, like many other orchestras, the PSO has also faced some financial challenges, largely related to its pension obligations.

Earlier this fall, recognizing that the PSO was facing an imminent financial crisis, the Board mandated significant changes to the expense side of the budget. This included asking the Orchestra to be a partner in the solution in the most recent contract negotiations that unfortunately resulted in a 55-day strike. The day before Thanksgiving 2016, the PSO and the Musicians of the Pittsburgh Symphony reached a new five-year agreement that includes significant salary concessions and a full freeze of the defined benefit plan by year four of the contract.

With internal expenses reduced as much as possible without compromising the integrity of the organization, its mission, and its artistic quality, the PSO is now turning to the community to maximize the concessions made by the musicians and help bring the organization to sustainability. Over the next five years, the PSO intends to raise $75 million which will (1) aggressively grow the Annual Fund (32% growth over five years); (2) create a working capital fund to address the pension obligation; and (3) fund innovative and important artistic initiatives in line with the PSO's new Strategic Plan and important to Music Director Manfred Honeck.

The Director of Major Gifts position is critical to the success of this fundraising effort. A new position for the PSO, the Director of Major Gifts will serve on the senior leadership team of the Development Department and will lead a team of gift officers charged with growing individual giving, which has seen substantial growth over the past five years. The PSO has a significant prospect pool of donors, many of whom are giving well under their capacity as well as subscriber and single ticket buyers with capacity who are not giving at all. This position will be charged with providing structure and process to the Major Gifts program as well as have its own portfolio of significant prospects focusing on securing Annual Gifts of $10,000 or more. The Director of Major Gifts will also work closely with the Chief Development Officer to build and engage a volunteer leadership team for the fundraising effort. This position is a fantastic opportunity for a candidate to help shape the future of one of the world's best orchestras.

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES

The Director of Major Gifts will

- be responsible for the overall management and growth of the PSO's major and planned gifts program which currently brings in more than $2 million annually and is slated to grow dramatically over the next five-years as the PSO enters a new recapitalization campaign;
- be responsible for identifying and managing a personal portfolio of approximately 300 major gift prospective donors with a focus on those who can give $10,000+ on an annual basis;

- manage the PSO's Major Gifts team which includes two gift officers (with one focused primarily on planned gifts) as well as a research and stewardship coordinator;
- be responsible for 5-7 meaningful contacts per week—300 contacts per year;
- work with other members of the PSO's development team to create strategies around key prospective donors;
- work with the PSO's Board of Trustees, other volunteer leadership, and PSO musicians to engage donors and prospective donors;
- work closely with the Senior Vice President & Chief Development Officer to determine annual goals, metrics, messaging, timelines, and portfolio assignments for the Major Gifts team; and
- create a strong prospect management program with activity expectations for the major gifts team, establishing and following best practices for reporting cultivation and solicitation activity via Tessitura.

ARTISTIC LEADERSHIP

Manfred Honeck
Music Director

Renowned for his distinctive interpretations, Manfred Honeck has served as music director of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra since the 2008-2009 season. He and the orchestra are consistently recognized for their performances and are celebrated both in Pittsburgh and abroad. To great acclaim, they regularly perform in major music capitals and festivals, among them the BBC Proms, Musikfest Berlin, Lucerne Festival, Rheingau Musik Festival, Beethovenfest Bonn, Grafenegg Festival, Carnegie Hall, and Lincoln Center. Honeck and the Pittsburgh Symphony also have built a close relationship with the Musikverein in Vienna. Following a week-long residency in 2012, they returned for three performances during an extensive tour of Europe in spring 2016.

Their next tour, in summer 2017, will again lead them to Europe's most prestigious music festivals. Honeck's successful work with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra has been extensively documented on recordings with the Reference Recording and Exton labels. All SACDs released by Reference Recordings, among them Strauss tone poems, Dvořák's Symphony No. 8, Bruckner's Symphony No. 4, Beethoven Symphonies No. 5 and 7 and, most recently, Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6, have received numerous rave reviews and honors. The recording of Dvořák's Symphony No. 8 and the Symphonic Suite from Janáček's opera Jenůfa, conceptualized by Honeck, was nominated for a Grammy Award, as was Bruckner's Symphony No. 4. Several recordings, including Mahler's Symphony No. 4, which won a 2012 International Classical Music Award, are also available on the Japanese label Exton.

Born in Austria, Honeck received his musical training at the Academy of Music in Vienna. Many years of experience as a member of the Vienna Philharmonic and the Vienna State Opera Orchestra have given his conducting a distinctive stamp. Other early posts include Leipzig and Oslo, where he assumed the post of music director at the Norwegian National Opera on short notice for a year and was engaged as principal guest conductor of the Oslo Philharmonic Orchestra. From 2000 to 2006, he was music director of the Swedish Radio Symphony Orchestra in Stockholm and, from 2008 to 2011 and again from 2013 to 2016, principal guest conductor of the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra. From 2007 to 2011, Honeck was music director of the Staatsoper Stuttgart. His operatic guest appearances include Semperoper Dresden, Komische Oper Berlin, Théâtre de la Monnaie in Brussels, Royal Opera of Copenhagen, the White Nights Festival in St. Petersburg, and the Salzburg Festival. Moreover, he has been artistic director of the International Concerts Wolfegg in Germany for more than 20 years. As a guest conductor, Honeck has worked with the world's leading orchestras.

Honeck has received honorary doctorates from Carnegie Mellon University, St. Vincent College, and the Catholic University of America. Most recently, he was awarded the title of honorary professor by the Austrian Federal President.
