PITTSBURGH MUSICAL THEATER PRESENTS:

An exhilarating celebration of the music that shaped a generation and the infamous night when four legends made history. On December 4, 1956, an extraordinary twist of fate brought four rock 'n' roll legends—Johnny Cash, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins, and Elvis Presley—together at Sun Records recording studio in Memphis, where they had launched their careers. What began as an impromptu jam session became a once-in-a-lifetime musical event. A newspaper reporter witnessing the gathering declared, "This quartet could sell a million," and the group was forever dubbed the Million Dollar Quartet. Featuring iconic smash-hits "Blue Suede Shoes," "Fever," "I Walk the Line," "Great Balls of Fire," "Folsom Prison Blues," "Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On," "Hound Dog," and more!
